Any personal, company and user-generated information will only ever be uploaded voluntarily by you and you confirm that you have obtained the necessary consent and have given appropriate notices to lawfully upload any other individual's personal data to our Services for the duration and purposes of these Terms. We'll never share or make your data or information available to anyone without your explicit permission (other than being legally required such as by a court order).

Your data is uploaded and downloaded over a secure connection, your credentials are encrypted and hashed. We don't store (or even know) your password. Your personal data and any confidential information you may upload to the Services is stored securely, and only people you've assigned as members of your team (in addition to any persons approved under clause 1.4) can access your data, per the access permissions you assigned to those team members. We expect you to ensure that you, and particularly those you give access to, have strong passwords, ideally different from their social network site logins.

2. Account creation

If you establish an account on the Services, you are responsible for maintaining the confidentiality of your user ID and password, and you are responsible for all activities that occur under your password or user ID.

You agree to:

- (i) log out from your account at the end of each session; and
- (ii) immediately notify us of any unauthorised use of your password or user ID or any other breach of security.

You are responsible for all content that you transmit or otherwise make available to our Services. Your access to and use of the Services may be monitored, including but not limited to, for the purpose of identifying illegal or unauthorised activities.

3. Data collection

Subject to the confidentiality obligations created under this Agreement (see below), you agree that we have the right to collect and analyse specific data points and other information gained from your profile, settings and including but not limited to interactions with our team on our chat support. This covers, without limitation, information concerning your data and data derived therefrom, and we will be free (during and after the term hereof) to

- (i) request bills, usage and cost history for you from relevant suppliers; and
- (ii) use such information and data to improve and enhance the Website/Platform and for other development, diagnostic and corrective purposes in connection with the Website/Platform. This is for the mutual benefit of all our users.

4. Granting ourselves access for customer support purposes

Occasionally you may contact us for customer support. It may be necessary for our team to access your profile page for the purpose of assistance, to enable them to see what you are having an issue with or for them to inspect documents you have referred to. This will only happen with your implied consent to do so, such as during an active conversation between yourself and a team member or where it is necessary to answer a question you have asked them on email/chat support.

Once you have finished working with that team member, they will remove their access from your profile. We also require our team members to regularly review the list of companies they have access to and to remove themselves from any company that they are not actively assisting to minimise the risk of any data breach.

5. Providing feedback

If you give us feedback on the Services, for example recommendations for improvements or features, such feedback will be deemed non-confidential and non-proprietary and implementation of that feedback is owned by us and may become part of the Services without compensation to you. We reserve all rights in and to the Services unless we expressly state otherwise.

If you would like to contact us to understand more about this Agreement or wish to contact us concerning any matter relating to it or JustTip Technologies Limited, you may send an email to info@justtip.net.

7. Who is the controller and who is the processor

As part of providing the Services to you, we will process personal data. We will do so either as a data controller (meaning, we decide the manner and purpose of the processing) or data processor (meaning, we process the data on your behalf and on your instructions) depending on the circumstances. In this clause, "personal data", "data controller" and "data processor" have the meanings given to them in the European Union General Data Protection Regulation.

When we process your personal data for our own business purposes (for example, creating your account, managing our relationship with you, liaising with suppliers, handling customer service questions and managing billing and invoicing), we are the data controller. In that case, we will process personal data in accordance with this Schedule.

When we process personal data on your behalf (for example, contact details, utility bills), we are the data processor. In that case, we will process personal data in accordance with this Schedule.

Both parties will comply, where appropriate, with all applicable requirements of the European Union General Data Protection Regulation, the Irish Data Protection Acts 1988-2018 and all other mandatory data protections laws and regulations applicable in Ireland from time to time ("Data Protection Legislation"). This clause is in addition to, and does not relieve, remove or replace, a party's obligations or rights under the Data Protection Legislation.

8. What data we will process on your behalf

When we act as a data processor on your behalf, we will carry out the processing activities below:

- (a) Subject matter of the processing: the provision of the Services to you.
- (b) Duration of the processing: starting on the date you provide the relevant personal data to us (for example by creating an account on our Services) until you either remove the relevant personal data from the Services or delete your account with us.
- (c) Nature and purpose of the processing: providing relevant personal details and documents on the Services, allowing us to analyse the information for the purposes of providing the Services to you.
- (d) Type of personal data involved: name, address, email address, employer's name and address, bank account details and billing details and tax identification numbers/details, if applicable.
- (e) Categories of data subject: you

9. We will only act on your documented instructions

We will only act on your documented instructions (including with regard to transfers of personal data to a third country or an international organisation) unless we are required by law to act without such instructions. You can provide us with your instructions by making selections and inputting information on the Services, or when you communicate with us.

If we are required by law to process personal data and don't have your instructions to do so, we will notify you before we carry out the processing required by law (unless the law prohibits us from notifying you).

10. We will take steps to ensure data is processed securely

We have implemented appropriate technical and organisational measures to ensure we can securely process personal data. This includes measures to address the particular risks that are presented by processing, for example from accidental or unlawful destruction, loss, alteration, unauthorised disclosure of, or access to the personal data we process on your behalf. When implementing these measures, we will take into account:

- (a) the state of technological development and the availability of relevant technology (for the purposes of Article 32(1) of the GDPR);
- (b) the costs of implementation of any measures (which may include, where appropriate, pseudonymising and encrypting personal data, ensuring confidentiality, integrity, availability and resilience of our systems and services, ensuring that availability of and access to personal data can be restored in a timely manner after an incident, and regularly assessing and evaluating the effectiveness of the technical and organisational measures we have adopted);
- (c) the nature, scope, context and purposes of processing; and
- (d) the risks for the rights and freedoms of the data subjects.

11. Everyone who processes personal data is under a duty of confidence

We will ensure that everyone who has access to or processes personal data on your behalf agrees to keep the data confidential. This includes our employees who are subject to confidentiality obligations under their employment contracts. If we engage any third parties to process personal data on your behalf, we will ensure that they are subject to a duty of confidentiality before we share any personal data with them.

12. General authority to appoint sub-processors

By accepting this Agreement, you authorise us to appoint third parties to process personal data as a sub-processor as we see fit. This clause will be deemed to be your general written authorisation under Article 28(2) of the GDPR. We will let you know if we plan to make any changes concerning the addition or replacement of any sub-processors before we make the change.

When we engage a sub-processor, we will ensure that we have a written contract in place with the sub-processor that sets out the same data protection obligations on the third party as are set out in this clause (or substantially on that sub-processor's standard terms of business), in particular providing sufficient guarantees to implement appropriate technical and organisational measures to ensure that the processing will meet the requirements of the relevant Data Protection Legislation.

If we appoint a sub-processor, we remain fully liable to you for the performance of the sub-processor's data protection obligations.

13. International transfers

If we need to transfer any personal data outside Ireland (for example, if our service providers store personal data on servers outside Ireland) we will ensure that appropriate safeguards are in place to keep the data secure, and that effective legal remedies are available for data subjects, or that there is an 'adequacy decision' (as defined in the Data Protection Act 2018). If we need to transfer any data, we will comply with our obligations under the relevant Data Protection Legislation to provide an adequate level of protection to any personal data that is transferred.

14. Right to be forgotten

You are entitled to contact JustTip at info@justtip.net at any time to ask us to delete incorrect information we hold about you.

If you deactivate your account, you are entitled to ask us to permanently delete all personal data held by us in relation to you. We will action such a request within 30 days.
